

The Man Who Printed lots of things

One day, in a very huge school, there was this man named Mike, who loved printing lots of things. He went to a place with a very good printer, that can print lots of things quickly. He printed lots of things that said, "Blah Blah blah". He printed over five thousand copies of it, and, he read all of them. He used the photo copier to copy those pieces of paper, that said "Blah blah blah". So, there was over one million copies.

Mike got in lots in trouble he even got fired. After two months he came back to the same school. He went to go to the principal named ALVIN. Alvin came and shouted "NO!!!! YOU MADE ME LOST 10,000,00 DOLLARS!!" Mike went to another school named LISTON. The boy's spare job was cleaning toilets, so mike just accepted it.

Suddenly Susie and Tiara came, and quietly said, "Thats not the concert, its a printing room. The concerts over there, but its already finished. Then Our teacher shouted "YOU GUYS SHOULD SAY THAT WHEN IT STARTS!" Our teacher was so angry that she SMACKED the printer and it broke into half.

Then our teacher had to buy a new printer, but she had no money to buy a new printer and then she had to ask a man to fix the printer, but he could not fix. Then she had to get a new job at a printer shop and work for money.
